

Your Vacation Guide to
The Mad River Valley

“Vermont” – the word immediately brings up the vision of relaxing and romantic settings, comfortable, friendly and safe environments, and great hospitality. Another favorite association is the famous line from the movie White Christmas: “Vermont must be beautiful this time of year—all that snow.” All true, and of course Vermont is a perfect holiday destination all seasons of the year. The state is proud of its beautiful small towns, quiet roads, and a very green environment in all senses. These are just a few of the unique ways that make a Vermont getaway distinctly different:

- 80% of the state is tree-covered, which means gorgeous views from most of our roads including the main highways.
- Billboards along the roads are not allowed, resulting in dramatically improved sight-lines.
- With a population of only 600,000 it seems that everyone knows everyone else and are ready to provide knowledgeable information and referrals to our visitors.
- It is the “greenest” state in the US with over eighty per cent of our electricity coming from non-carbon sources.
- It’s the home of Ben & Jerry’s ice cream and Cabot cheese!
- In the Mad River Valley, all accommodations and restaurants are locally owned and operated. Plus, there’s not a single set of traffic lights!

We welcome you to visit us and experience the unique beauty of the Mad River Valley!
